

Lyreleaf Sage

Salvia lyrata L.

Family:	Lamaceae
Habitat:	Sandy woods, clearings, meadows
Color:	Pink
Height:	ground cover
Exposure:	Sun
Bloom Dates:	May-Jun
Soil Moisture:	Dry
Soil Quality:	Average
Garden Uses:	Ground cover, rock gardens.
Notes:	Flowers are blue-purple, rarely white. Can be seen in the field next to the Farmer's Market before the field is mown. Great in open meadows. This plant is best in the valley as it does not truly bloom on the mountain most years. Can be used on mountain as attractive ground cover.
USDA Plants Profile	http://plants.usda.gov/java/profile?symbol=SALY2